

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS / NOTAS SOBRE LOS AUTORES
(in order of appearance/en orden de aparición)

❑ Hilbourne A. Watson

is Professor of International Relations at Bucknell University, USA. He specializes in international political economy, Caribbean international relations, and political theory. Among his recent publications are "Liberalism and Neo-liberal Capitalist Globalization: Contradictions of the Liberal Democratic State" GeoJournal, Vol. 60, No. 1, Spring 2004, pp. 43-59, and "Caribbean Marxism after the Neoliberal and Linguistic Turns: A Critical Interpretation," in The CLR James Journal: A Review of Caribbean Ideas, Vol. 10, No. 1, Winter 2004, pp. 167-199.

❑ Debbie A. Mohammed

holds a Ph.D. from the University of the West Indies and lectures on International Trade at the Institute of International Relations, UWI, St. Augustine campus. Her research interests include CARICOM trade issues; Competitiveness Strategies, Information Technologies for Development, Trade Policy, Export Competitiveness in Services and Knowledge Management and Competitiveness.

❑ Anselm Francis

holds the qualifications of LL.M from the University of London. At present he is Acting Director of the Institute of International Relations and Senior Lecturer in International Law. His research interests include the area of Law of the Sea and the Legal aspects of Caribbean Integration His recent publications.

❑ Gordon Anthony Layne

has a Ph.D from University of Warsaw and is a senior research fellow at the Institute of Latin American Studies (CESLA), at that university. He also holds a post-doctoral fellowship at the Institute of International Relations at the said Institution; and is an Assistant Vice-President of Bank of America in Seaside, California. His recent publications include "Integrative processes in the Caribbean Basin" |in:| "Informe Integrar" at the Instituto de Integracion Latinoamericana, Universidad Nacional de la Plata, Argentina, May 2003.

❑ Dr Roy McCree

has a Ph.D from University of Leicester, UK. He is presently a research fellow and lecturer at Sir Arthur Lewis Institute for Social and Economic Studies, University of the West Indies. His is a varied research interest focusing on Trinidad and Tobago that covers race relations, carnival, sociology of sports, gambling, social policy and community development.

□ James Wardally

holds a MSc. from Stockholm University and is presently a lecturer in International Relations and Latin American Studies. He is also a doctoral candidate at the Department of Economic History, Stockholm University. His research interests include labour history, labour market regulation, development issues, offshore finance, regional integration and globalization as it relates to labour issues. Forthcoming publication which is part of the doctoral dissertation is titled Regulation, Crisis and Change in Trinidad and Tobago, 1930 to 1962.